

Contact:
Maggie Scroope
(574) 647-3234

Misti Coussens
(574) 647-7332

For Immediate Release

Memorial Hospital Recognized for Excellence in Organ Donation

Memorial Hospital of South Bend was recognized for achieving excellence in organ donation, at the 2010 Indiana Donation Collaborative, held May 3rd and 4th.

“Each award level is tied to criteria that results in more organ donors and/or more organs transplanted from each donor,” said Sam Davis, Director of Professional Services and Public Affairs at Indiana Organ Procurement Organization (IOPO) who sponsored the two-day donation symposium. “It’s a collaborative effort and recognizes the hospitals and their staffs for working to achieving life saving results.”

The organ and tissue donation symposium provides a forum for hospital professionals to share information, review data and exchange ideas on improving donation within their hospitals.

About Memorial Hospital of South Bend

For more than a century, Memorial Hospital of South Bend has been a leader in providing the latest medical services to meet the needs of a thriving community. Our care extends into northern Indiana and southern Michigan, offering high quality services through our regional centers for cancer, cardiac care, childbirth, emergency care and rehabilitation.

About the American College of Radiology

Indiana Organ Procurement Organization (IOPO) is the non-profit health service dedicated to advancing organ, tissue, and eye donation throughout Indiana.

###