Hands-On “Operating Room” Experience Outside Memorial Hospital

Zimmer Orthopedics has offered their Mobile Learning Lab to Memorial Hospital. It will be stationed outside the hospital at the corner of Michigan and Bartlett streets July 14 and 15 from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Inside, staff will have the opportunity to upgrade their skills, learn advanced techniques and increase their overall technological expertise.

Using saw bones, a plastic composite that anatomically matches the bones and other components that form a total knee or hip, physicians (and media) can practice the latest orthopedic techniques and learn more about state-of-the-art procedures now available.

“This is a unique opportunity to provide our surgical staff with the education and tools to be even more successful,” says Toni Knish, R.N. orthopedic coordinator, surgical services, Memorial Hospital. “Staff feedback has been extremely positive.”
